Local Realtors Score "Free Lot" Scheme

BUNCO SCHEME IS BEING TRIED HERE IS REPORT

Committees for Coming Year Named by President

"Giving away of free lots is a well organized scheme to dupe the public," according to a resolution adopted unanimously by the Contra Costa Board of Realtors at a meeting last night. E. B. Bull, president of the organization, claims that high pressure promoters have recently approached a number of local people with enticing offers of something for nothing. "Lots are to be given away to a number of lucky people," he said, "the only thing with a new ramification."

The board pledged united support to drive out this pernicious form of unethical salesmanship and explained the methods by which hundreds of people in other parts of California have been deceived of life savings.

The usual method is for the promoter to station salesmen in free-markets, theatre lobbies and other public places, there to distribute cards to anyone who will take them. Those who return the

Peaches And Daddy Divorce Case Halted Until Monday

Browning's Lawyers Are Given Time to Get More Evidence

By DAMON RUNYON

(Copyright 1927, Universal Service) WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Jan. 26.—Our legal pulling and hauling here in the interests of the moral uplift of the nation, known for the purpose of the record as the "Peaches" and "Daddy" Browning case, came to a halt today until Monday.

The pause is not, as you might suspect, to give the attorneys time to give the court the fruits of their latest researches into the Westchester county town a chance to fumigate the premises. It is to give "Daddy" Browning's attorneys time to marshal testimony to refute the many, many things that "Peaches" said about the great big gander man.

Friend Testifies

Also, what some of "Peaches" witnesses said about him today, which was plenty. There was one witness for instance, who came along at the afternoon session, a Miss Marion Tinsley, of New York, one of "Peaches" friends, who testified that as late as last Saturday "Daddy" came snooping around her house asking her if she hadn't taken "Peaches" on made parties, and hadn't chaperoned "Peaches" to a doctor for an illegal operation.

All this before "Peaches" married.

WIDENING OF SAN PABLO TO START SOON

Key System Officials Agree to Wishes of Local Residents

At a joint meeting of Key Route officials and the city council held last night Lester R. Reedy, new president of the Key Route system, and George H. Harris, general manager, promised that double tracks would be laid on San Pablo avenue to take the place of the single track now in place.

The proposed double tracks will cost $55,000 to cover San Pablo from Macdonald to McBride avenues.

Reedy stated that the decision was reached after careful consideration of the needs of Richmond and her remarkable industrial growth.

Paving will have to be done and it is planned that San Pablo shall be widened to 100 feet. The city will cooperate in every way possible in placing safety zones and traffic signals.

According to Reedy work will start on the project as soon as weather conditions permit. Spring will probably see the work well under way.

In commenting on the decision reached by the Key Route officials Mayor Mattie Chandler stated:

"I think that Richmond should consider itself fortunate in forging another link in the chain of highways and railways that make Richmond's progress one with that of the other cities of the east bay. There is no doubt that the proposed improvements will do much toward promoting industrial and commercial growth."

Plans for the paving of San Pablo will be prepared at once by City Engineer E. A. Hoffman and the work is expected to proceed as soon as the rainy season is over.

The decision of the Key System officials to double track San Pablo avenue will supply adequate street car transportation for the east Richmond section.

When plans were proposed for the paving of San Pablo avenue to its full width the Key System asked permission to abandon the street car line and provide a bus service in its stead. Strong opposition from residents of the district was made at several meetings held at which Key System officials, the city council and residents of the section were in attendance.

OWNER OF LIQUOR IS "WANTED"

LOST—Two cases of Gordon gin (alleged pre-war) and a sundry collection of liquor called whiskey but more commonly known in this day and age as "Jack-ass."

FOUND—Two cases of Gordon gin (alleged pre-war) and a sundry collection of liquor called whiskey but more commonly known in this day and age as "Jack-ass." Owner may have same by applying at police station and proving ownership.

These two examples of "classifieds" describe in detail a little episode which occurred in this city a few days ago.

However it might be added that if the owner should claim his property he will probably be arrested under the Wright Act before he gets out of sight of the police station.

The liquor was found by a riding party of local policemen headed by Chief of Police Dan Cox in a vacant house at 17 Deftino avenue, Point Richmond. No clue as to the owner was found by the officers.

MASSACRE OF FOREIGNERS IS FEARED BY U. S.

Statement is Issued as Eleventh Hour Attempt to Prevent Crisis

(By Universal Service) WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—The United States tonight approved China's struggle for sovereignty but warned the revolutionists that American warships will protect Americans unless and until China is able to do so.

This pronouncement was contained in a formal statement of policy issued by Secretary of State Kellogg to be published simultaneously in China. It was in response to a memorandum on the subject from Great Britain a month ago and to a House resolution urging independent American action in dealing with the situation.

The United States promised to put into effect as soon as possible a tariff autonomy and abandonment of extrajurisdiction rights now.

GIVEN SEVEN YEAR SENTENCE FOR ASSAULT

L. E. Ballard, Scandia rancher convicted last week of assault with a deadly weapon in Solano county, must serve seven years in the county jail and pay a fine of $1000 as a result of sentence passed by Superior Judge W. T. O'Donnell yesterday.

Judge O'Donnell stated that he was imposing the county jail sentence in lieu of the alternative San Quentin prison term because of the leniency so often accorded prisoners by the prison board. In this way, the intention of the court in passing sentence was "frustrated."

The fine of $1000 was imposed by way of remunerating the county for Ballard's board during the seven years.

Though the passing of a county jail sentence for such a length of time is held to be unusual it is within the law which permits of imprisonment in the state prison or county jail for such offenses for "not exceeding ten years," and a fine "not exceeding $5000."

Air Mail Pilot Injured In Crash

(By Universal Service) FRESNO, Calif., Jan. 26.—P. Smith, pilot of a northbound plane of the Pacific air mail transport company, which was wrecked while landing at the airport here this morning, has a broken safety belt to thank that his injuries are not more serious. He is in a local sanitarium nursing a broken shoulder blade as a result of the crash.

When Smith endeavored to land his plane, he missed the level runway and the machine plunged into the rough hog wallows at the edge of the field, toppling over on its side. Smith's belt broke as the plane overturned and he was thrown against a wing and then clear of the machine, before it somersaulted onto its back. Had he been held in the machine, more serious injuries would have resulted, according to those who first reached the wrecked machine after the accident.

Air mail destined to San Francisco and Seattle from Los Angeles and Bakersfield was transferred to a train here this morning.

DRIVE FOR RED CROSS PROVES BIG SUCCESS

Homer W. Patterson, chairman of the committee in charge of the local Red Cross drive announced yesterday that the local Red Cross headquarters will be open today so that some of the late reports on the roll call may be made and the money collected may be turned in.

Pola Negri Is Sued For Jewels

(By Universal Service)

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 26.—Pola Negri, exotic Polish film star, was named defendant today in a suit filed in Superior court here by Margaff and company, a Berlin jewelry firm, for the recovery of $16,000 on several drafts on the Harriman National Bank, of New York.

The German firm alleged that Miss Negri gave the drafts in payment for jewelry purchased when she was in Berlin. But when they were presented in New York for payment, Miss Negri's account there had been closed, it was alleged. The plaintiff asserts that the account was closed to stop this payment.

Miss Negri said today that the jewelry in question had been returned to the firm after it was sent to her on approval. She said she changed her mind about the purchase.

IZZY MURPHY PLEASES MANY AT CALIFORNIA

"Private IZZY Murphy," the Warner picture, now at the California theatre, stars George Jessel, the famous "Jazz Singer" who won such enviable acclaim in New York last year.

"Private IZZY Murphy" is the story of IZZY Goldberg, a young delicatessen keeper of New York. For business reasons he decides to change his name to "Murphy," and goes overseas with an Irish regiment under the name. The story does not burlesque racial traits, but is a play with that "touch of nature" which "makes the whole world kin."

All sons should take their mothers to see "Private IZZY Murphy." In the first place, it is a mother and son story, a faithful heartening, tender story of war and love and human hearts, made one by things mightier than disputes and prejudices. George Jessel, who is starred, is personally the chief pal of his own mother, his father having died when he was but nine. Patsy Ruth Miller, who is the Irish sweetheart in the picture, is noted in Hollywood for other than her screen success, especially for the fact that she and her mother are practically inseparable, even having identical hair-bobs! Vera Gordon, who is one of the featured players, is perhaps the most celebrated of all portrayals of "mother parts." "Private IZZY Murphy" glorifies American motherhood. It is the sort of photoplay which brings down the whole house! It is adventure, love, a laugh, a tear, drama, and war, and peace, and over all the American eagle screaming! It'll get you! Go!

Other film features include: "A Society," an Imperial comedy; Fox's "Varieties," International News; and Larry Canelo at the organ.

Do What Doctors Do
Modern doctors are prescribing a new help to millions. It is one of the marvels of modern medicine, and is doing what nothing else has done.
It is a gland secretion, derived from livers of the ox. It stimulates the liver, and at once it multiplies the flow of bile. We have learned in late years that cathartics never do this.
This new flow of bile—a quart a day—floods the bowels, keeps them open. Thus it relieves constipation. It does this in a night.
Bile is an antiseptic. It combats intestinal germs which feed poisons to the blood. This new supply corrects countless results of blood impurities.
Bile is a digestant. It ends the bowel indigestion due to lack of bile. To nine in ten people this new help means priceless benefits. This liver gland secretion is embodied in Dioxol tablets. Each tablet represents ten drops. Learn what it means to you.

DISROBES IN RESTAURANT; IS INSANE

The cover charge in a restaurant does not entitle a patron to disrobe, and Julius Williams, of Martinez, 51 was adjudged insane yesterday by Superior Judge A. B. McKenzie and sentenced to the state hospital in Stockton, on account of his predilection for the bare realities of life.

Williams was taken into custody ten days ago on a charge of disturbing the peace. When he threatened the lives of prisoners in the county jail an insanity charge was preferred against him, but was later dismissed following his examination by a lunacy commission. The restaurant episode compelled authorities to examine him again, and he was committed to an asylum.

A BIT OF MAGIC IN INDUSTRY New Copper From Old Iron

TO take a cheap metal and transform it into a valuable one was a dream of the ancient alchemists. Many an ancient philosopher spent a lifetime in futile quest of that secret.

Perhaps modern scientists will fully succeed where the old alchemists failed. Science does not deny the possibility of the achievement. But experiments, so far, indicate that the cost would be greater than the cost resulting from the transformation.

It has remained, however, for the copper industry to discover a method practice a transformation of metals that really pays. In the plant of the Anaconda Copper Company at Butte, Montana there is a process employed which takes old iron and makes it yield new copper. It is the copper that otherwise would be lost to the consumer because it is locked up in the waste water pumped from the mines.

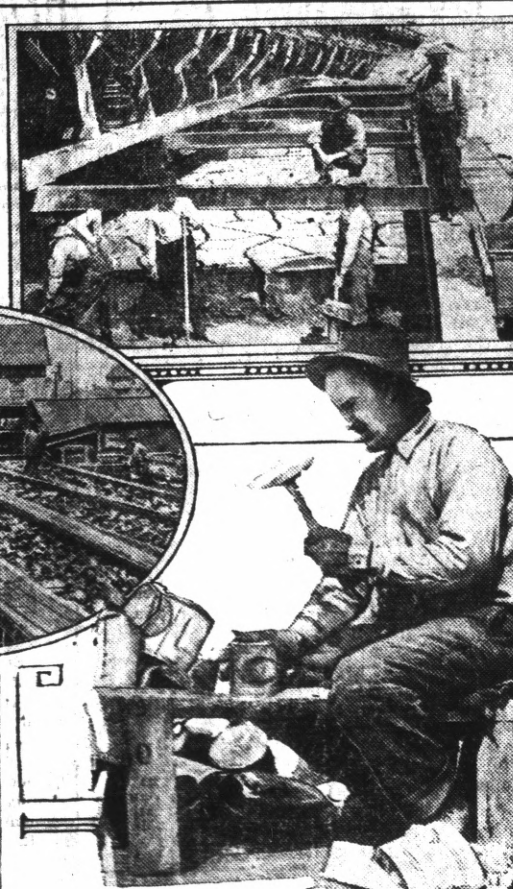

Instead of being allowed to flow away with the copper it holds in solution this water is conducted to tanks from which it drips onto scrap iron. Water has a greater affinity for iron than for copper and when the mine water comes into contact with the iron it "steals" the copper it holds and takes up iron in solution as it trickles onward. The copper remains on the surface of the iron, from which it is readily removed.

Pieces of old iron boiler plate, cut up automobile bodies, old iron car wheels, old tin cans and similar "discards" have a new career of usefulness in aiding this recovery of copper. In the "recovery" section of the Anaconda plant down the cost of copper and add to the supply of the metal available to industry.

Japanese Police Will Play Tennis

(By Universal Service)

TOKYO, Jan. 26.—Western sports, baseball, tennis and football, are to become an important part of the training which Japanese policemen must undergo. They will not replace, but will supplement, the old-time training in jujitsu and fencing which all Japanese policemen must receive.

One purpose of the introduction of western athletics into the training of policemen, the authorities declared, was to develop a spirit of co-operation and team work among the guardians of the peace. The arts of fencing and jujitsu develop individual prowess and bring distinction to the individual but do not teach policemen how to work in harmony with their fellow officers. Modern police problems, the leaders assert, cannot be solved successfully unless the department is able to function as a closely co-operating unit.

The value of western athletics in developing the physique has been effectively demonstrated to the Japanese through the introduction of baseball, football, hockey, tennis and other sports in the public schools. The police authorities expect that a noticeable physical improvement among policemen will follow the introduction of these sports.

To carry out the plan, an officer in charge of western sports will be stationed at each police station. Regular lessons and practice will be given and teams developed. Semi-annually a police field day will be held and prizes awarded to the teams that are winners in competition with other teams.

MEN OF STEEL HAS CAST OF STAR PLAYERS

Two of the biggest men in the film world are numbered among the unusual cast of First National's big special "Men of Steel" now showing at the Richmond theatre here. They are Victor McLaglen, who stands just six feet and three inches in his stocking feet and John Kohl, who measures six feet seven inches.

These two giants fight a thrilling fistie battle in this picture, and the punches between these men were not the kind usually called "stage punches." Kohl almost removed McLaglen's "Adam's apple" in one scene, and McLaglen "planted a few" on Kohl, as fistie writers say, in another scene. It was a regular slugfest, which has just been released as one of the big "specials" of the year.

Other film features include "Here Comes Charlie," a Lloyd Hamilton comedy; "Prizma," the screen magazine; and a Grandland Rice "Spotlight."

MASSACRE OF FOREIGNERS IS FEARED BY U. S.

The unity in independence and prosperity of China have always been desired by this country. It was stated.

"The government of the United States has watched with sympathetic interest the Nationalist awakening of China and welcomes every advance made by the Chinese people toward reorganizing their system of government," the new policy declared.

The United States offers to negotiate separate treaties or deals with China alone but it was emphasized that any negotiations are impossible until there is a government in China with which such government now exists and because of the menace of American lives and property. United States warships are prepared to intervene on behalf of Americans it was explained.

The state department frankly admitted that the declaration of policy was issued in an eleventh hour effort to prevent a clash with the Chinese if not a massacre of Americans in many cities. The statement was cabled to all American consuls in China to be entered in the Native press in the hope that assurance of American friendship would stay imminent anti-foreign disorders.

In some diplomatic quarters the pronouncement was construed as placing upon Great Britain the bulk of the burden in furnishing protection to foreigners in China.

The state department explained, however, that the policy merely referred to the negotiations possible and that in the matter of protecting foreigners, the United States will continue to act in concert with the other nations.

The state department made no effort to minimize the gravity of the situation. Reports indicate that two mighty Chinese armies are converging on Hankow and Shanghai, the latter place the home of thousands of Americans and other foreigners. Confidential advisers indicate that even while fighting among themselves for control of China the armies are united in their war for the extermination or expulsion of foreigners.

It was regarded as almost impossible that a clash can be

Kaiser Company Wins Contract For Paving Highway

Bids opened Tuesday by the joint highway district No. 8 board in Sacramento for the paving of an eleven mile stretch of road between Rio Vista and Antioch bridges over the Brannan and Sherman Islands showed the Kaiser Paving company of Oakland lowest with a bid of $322,655.65. C. W. Wood of Manteca came next with a bid of $324,128.50.

Several other bids were submitted. Granite Construction company offered $336,560.05, Hall-Johnson company $373,032.55, O. U. Miracle, $3,64,819.20, and the California Construction company $360,148.20.

The contract will be awarded next Monday. In a decision between the Kaiser Paving company and C. W. Wood, the question of material to be used will probably be the deciding factor.

The state has given $60,000 toward the completion of the road. Property owners in the district will contribute $7,550 and the remainder will be paid out during a five-year period by Sacramento county.

Vice Probe In Spokane Nets 11

(By Universal Service)
SPOKANE, Wash., Jan. 26.—City Commissioner Charles W. Hodgers, two city detectives and eight alleged members of a Spokane liquor ring were arrested in quick succession today as the result of a Federal Grand Jury investigation into liquor and vice conditions in Spokane and vicinity.

The Federal Grand Jury also recommended that a County Grand Jury continue the investigation, centering attention particularly upon gambling conditions.

Delayed until the British forces now enroute to China can reach there and as more than likely that the allied forces now concentrated at Shanghai would have to meet the crisis.

KIWANIS CLUB HEARS ADDRESS ON "VISIONS"

Speaking before the Richmond Kiwanis club in Hotel Carquinez yesterday, Rev. H. O. Breddon, pastor of the First Christian church of Oakland, gave that body one of the most forceful addresses that it has ever been privileged to hear. Rev. Breddon chose "Visions" as the topic of his discourse.

"People obtain different views from looking at an object," he declared. "A man's vocation may have something to do with this, but it is largely the result of an inner sight that comes from an advanced or a retrograded spiritual vision. Mental development cannot explain this fact; it comes from the recesses of the soul."

A detailed report on the division meeting at Modesto and the district session at Berkeley was given by Earl W. Sanders, district trustee. Mrs. Violet Williams and Emil Esch rendered a number of pleasing piano numbers.

S. P. Skow of the Richmond Farm Creamery, and R. J. Kelly, of the Western Auto Supply company were admitted as members. Theodore Madsen acted as chairman in the absence of Dr. G. W. Bunge. Guests included Dr. C. E. Blake, G. A. Wettenberg, D. A. Dodge, W. B. Boyd and H. J. Pfeiffer, the latter of Modesto.

According to victims of this evidently crazed person, he has made no attempt to rob them after filling their eyes with burning black pepper.

He was first encountered by Mrs. Irving Hunecker. Without saying a word she was seized by the arm, and when she attempted to beat off her attacker, he threw a handful of pepper in her eyes. She was temporarily blinded, and her screams drew the intruder away.

Silk Worms Get Kick Out Of Saki

(By Universal Service)
TOKYO, Jan. 26.—Sake and wheat flour is a favorite diet of silk worms, according to a discovery made by K. Nakai, expert of the Okayama Prefectural laboratory for sericulture. Not only that, it is a healthful diet, Nakai maintains.

Nakai conducted tests over a period of two years and he found that silk worms who are fed on sake, which is the Japanese national alcoholic beverage, and a mixture of wheat flour and water have better digestion and are freer from disease than silk worms who feed only on mulberry leaves. An increase in quantity production also was noted.

Economically, sericulturists point out, the discovery is valuable since silk worms so fed consume from 50 to 60 percent fewer mulberry leaves, thereby lessening the cost of production.

SOUTHERN FARMERS FIND NEW MARKETS

Cooperative Action, Motor Truck and Railroad Facilities
Add to Profits in North Carolina

Pulling out of the deep mud tracks of the past fifty years the Southern farmer is finding his way to new markets and prosperity.

Cooperative action, joining together in the purchase of warehouses and equipment, is meeting the need for adequate capital.

New highways and the use of motor trucks are giving him a wider range of markets.

The combination of the motor trucks with the railroad places him readily in touch with every avenue of trade.

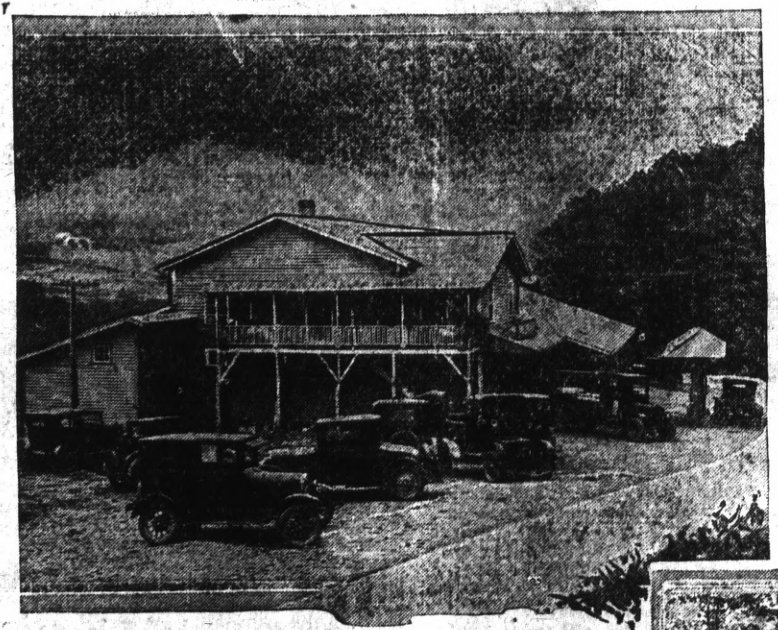

Such is the story of a new day in Dixie related by James G. K. McClure Jr., President of the Farmers' Federation, Asheville, North Carolina.

It was at the Interstate Commerce Commission hearings in Asheville recently that this story of the rising South was presented. Railroad attorneys had presented heavy statistics, shippers had stated their cases, when McClure aroused and asked leave to state what the farmers were doing in his community without aid or hindrance of regulation, using modern facilities and using them profitably. This is his statement:

The Farmers' Federation is an organization of farmers that was started in Buncombe county in the fall of 1920. The aim of the farmers who originated the Federation was to increase production on the farm so that means could be obtained to better living conditions. The only way to improve conditions on the farm seemed to this group to be to make more money by producing more. They felt that the way to stimulate production was by creating marketing facilities.

We found on analyzing the situation of the farmers in the mountain section that the gross income per crop worker averaged $350 per year for the counties of Western North Carolina. This is the gross income, and after necessary expenses for fertilizer, seeds, some seeds and farm supplies were deducted, it left a very small sum indeed for the maintenance of a man's family.

Lack of Transport Barred Prosperity
The meager production of the farmers in the mountains of North Carolina has its causes in the past. When the first settlers drifted down through the valley of Virginia, and into the mountains of Western North Carolina, and commenced to farm, they found that their markets were a long way off. The only markets were the seacoast towns, and the expense of carrying corn and wheat to the market by pack train or ox wagon was more than the value of the crop produced. The farmers in the mountains soon adapted themselves to this lack of markets were developed in Western North Carolina. The only markets available were the towns, which were small and whose consuming power was very limited. Two or three farmers coming to town with wagon loads of produce would get the market for several days. No shipping markets and no outlet for produce, and therefore no stimulus to production, were in existence.

This is Warehouse No. 1 of the Farmers' Federation at Fairview Siding, North Carolina. This warehouse was financed by funds subscribed by the farmers.

Federation Pooled Capital Resources
The Farmers' Federation was organized with the idea of creating marketing facilities. This organization purchases supplies for the farmer, such as seeds, fertilizer, feeds, etc., and sells for the farmer what the farmer produces. The organization grew out of meetings of a group of fifteen farmers who felt that they must take steps to better their condition. We organized a cooperative company, a share of stock in which was $50, with all profits above 6% on the stock to be returned pro rata to the stock holders according to their patronage with the organization.

We built a small warehouse, 60 ft. by 30 ft. at Fairview Siding, and were ready for business November 1, 1920. The organization commenced to grow, and in the year 1921 it did a business of $54,000. It now has over two thousand stockholders, operates eight warehouses and is doing a business of $120,000 per month.

Raising Tomatoes for Florida
Along with the creation of marketing facilities we promote crops. As an illustration, we are promoting the growing of tomatoes for shipment to Florida. Florida has no tomatoes when our tomatoes come on the market. We also promote the poultry business, this spring being instrumental in putting out on the farms of Western North Carolina over two hundred thousand day-old baby chicks.

Operate 15 Trucks
We operate fifteen trucks. These trucks collect and distribute. As an illustration, two years ago we commenced shipping cars of live poultry. We were able to assemble this poultry by bringing poultry in by means of trucks from many different sections. This enabled us to have a cash market for poultry not only at the car, but many miles from the car. This cash market in turn stimulates the further production of poultry, and the truck.

Trucks of the Farmers' Federation in Western North Carolina are building local markets, as well as rail-shipping trade. Note the modern state highway and pneumatic tires which reduce transportation costs.

we expect to see the production of poultry increase very rapidly.

Creating Business for the Railroads
We are able to ship in carload lots because we tap the surrounding territory with our trucks. We also distribute fertilizer and feeds with our trucks over quite a territory. The tonnage of fertilizer has probably increased three or four times since the Federation started operations. I cannot but believe that our truck operations are steadily increasing the railroad freight tonnage because of the fact that we are developing agricultural industries in sections that were isolated and had no hope of markets before we commenced assembling and shipping by freight by means of trucks.

We are making a sustained effort to build up the agricultural resources of this section of the state. We are developing marketable crops. The motor truck enables us to assemble these crops at railroad points. We are continually increasing tonnage to give the railroad. The railroad has cooperated with us in every way and is always ready to give us assistance in building up our business. We are developing townships and counties which would still be isolated if it were not for the truck.

By The Cub

When the shades of the evening fall with a loud and distinct thud this evening and when all the 117 birds nestle in their nests and so on down the line, there will be three basketball games in the Roosevelt Junior high school gym.

And the sun will arise tomorrow morning on the 1927 champions of the Richmond basketball league. It will either be the Pullman team, champions of the 1926 league or the Giant Dynamite mixers, the rising generation.

Take your choice. The hand is quicker than the eye.

Lovers of fast and furious basketball games are shining up their fingers of ancient vintage ready to leave at a moment's notice to get a good seat to view the fracas.

Three games are on tap. At 7:30 the Young Ladies Institute of this city will meet the girls' basketball team of the Emporium of San Francisco. About an hour later the McRacken and Ben Malik cagers will take the floor.

Then when this game is over and the audience is keyed up to an expectant pitch, the cheers will arise and the Giant and Pullman teams, contenders for the city championship will trot out on the floor and will engage in the fight of brawn, brains or what have you.

The Giant team is dangerous and they are determined to take the city championship.

But the Pullman team says: "Nay, Nay, Pauline," they mean to keep the title and annex the McRacken cup.

Tonight will tell.

Volley Ball

Player Sustains Sprained Ankle

Volley ball has never been known as a rough sport, not ranking with basketball, baseball, football or hockey but, at the same time, accidents will happen in the best regulated volleyball games.

S. E. Turner, leader of the Turner's Panthers, local Y. M. C. A. volleyball team, learned this last night. During a hot game with the Lester's Wild Cats he sprained his ankle. Although the sprain is not serious it will keep him at his home for some time.

Walter Wight, Buick agent here in the early days, and one time owner of the Mt. Diablo Garage, is visiting with his brother, Attorney Ralph Wight, at Martinez. Wight is now engaged in the garage business in Montana.

BASEBALL

Reports from Ogden that Louis Guisto, first sacker on the Oakland ball club, would manage the Ogden club this season were denied yesterday by J. Cal Ewing, president of the Oakland club. Ewing stated that he may send some player to the club but this player has as yet not been selected.

ROWING

Coach "Ky" Ebright, in charge of the crew at the University of California, is greatly pleased with the showing made by his charges during their work outs. Ebright has some of the best material in years and he declares that his men have a big chance of beating the Huskies in the annual regatta.

BOXING

Charles Cook, manager of Geo. Levine, announced yesterday that the New York welterweight had been offered a return match with Pete Latzo of Scranton, Pa. to be held in Chicago in February. Latzo won from Levine on a foul last July.

MORE BASEBALL

"Doc" Silvey, San Francisco Seal scout, announced yesterday that he has signed Joe Lucas, who has been covering the short patch for the Chevrolet Motors in an Oakland league. Lucas is 20 years old, weighs 155 pounds and is five feet 10 inches tall. He will report to the Seals' spring camp.

FOOTBALL

Spring football practice will be started on Monday, January 31, by the University of California football candidates, Coach "Nils" Price, announced yesterday. He said that training will be intensive in order to place the Bears back on the football map.

PULLMAN FIVE TO MEET U. C. SECOND VARSITY

The Pullman basketball team of this city will go up against the University of California second varsity on Wednesday night at the Roosevelt Junior high school in the third game of the U. A. A. league.

In the first game Seawright's Perambulators will meet the Corigate Tires of Oakland in action in a return match.

All games scheduled this week in the U. A. A. league have been called off. W. L. "Doc" Seawright announced yesterday. The play nights have also been changed from Tuesday to Wednesday nights.

Tigers Win Volley Ball Contest Here

Ed Hill's Tigers, in the Y. M. C. A. Volley Ball league, proved their superiority over Parker's Bear Cats last night in the local "Y" by taking two games, 15 to 8 and 15 to 13 and losing one game, 15 to 7, taking the set.

In the second game Lester's Hyenas defeated Turner's Panthers 15 to 11 and in the second game of the set Turner's men were leading by a score of 11 to 2 when Turner sprained his ankle and the game had to be called off.

HIGH SCHOOL CAGE SQUAD LOSES TO U. C.

The Richmond high school quintet met more than its equal last night when it went up against the University of California Freshman squad in the arena Gymnasium.

The local squad went down to defeat by a score of 37 to 17, after a fast and furious game.

The Frosh started out like the well known house fire but slipped up a bit in the second half.

In this half the Richmond squad found its stride and saved itself from an inglorious defeat.

The lineup for Richmond included DeBaere, and Bowman, forwards; J. Baldwin, center; Swenson and Oskings, guards.

LOCAL CLUB TO ATTEND SPORTS SHOW IN S. F.

Plans were made for full attendance of the Richmond Sportsmen's club at the first annual California Sportsmen's show which will be held in San Francisco May 14 to 22 at a meeting held last night in the Pythian castle.

One of the most complete exhibits of outdoor life ever staged will be presented at the May festival.

A special meeting is being planned for February 9, according to R. B. Dougall, president of the organization. At this time a representative of the Associated Sportsmen's club will speak on "Game Laws and Their Enforcement."

Five new members were admitted to the club last night. They were William Gideon, Sam Bailey, E. W. Skike, Albert E. Linden and Charles M. Leard.

Famous Divorce Case Of Peaches Versus Browning Is Halted Until Next Monday

riage to "Daddy" you understand. Miss Tussey said she told "Daddy" she hadn't done anything of the sort, wherefore, so she testified, "Daddy" remarked that it would be worth her while if she could think up something to that effect and would get her a lot of publicity. It probably would.

Miss Tussey is a young woman who is a bit to the fleshy side. I mean to say she is plumpish. She was one of a quartet of ladies who came in together today, and who all appeared on the stand, the party including "Peaches" herself, "Peaches" mother, a Mrs. Catherine Mayer, and Miss Tussey. Put 'em all together, they spell hefty.

Have Evidence by Monday

But by Monday morning "Daddy" expects to have evidence assembled in White Plains to prove that everything "Peaches" and her witnesses said is all dead wrong, and that he is the nicest, whitest, kindest, and possibly the happiest fifty-two-year-old that ever joined hands in wedlock with a fifteen-year-old flapper.

Of course if all that "Peaches" said about "Daddy's" quaint views of the nuptial bond be true, he is a hoary headed old bear. But if she has been lying in that respect, and her case is reduced to her allegations of his other whimsicalities, such as rubber eggs, and playing coyote in the bed chamber, and a yen for publicity, then my friends and fellow citizens a lot of wives could probably make terrible suckers of their husbands in court.

I mean to say that, bar the alleged abnormalities aforesaid, "Peaches" has so far merely made the old wower out a little bit dizzy for a gent of his years. The most serious charge she made against him was in reference to his relations with ten-year-old Dorothy Sunshine Browning, his adopted daughter.

I gathered from a statement made this morning by John E. Mack, of counsel for "Daddy," that he expects to produce some snappy testimony on behalf of his client. The folks can hardly wait to hear it. The folks have been somewhat disappointed so far. The testimony has been putrid in spots, but it might have been worse.

Peaches Gives Lie

"Peaches" confessed to a little fib at the morning session through her attorney, the abashed Henry Epstein. He got up and told Judge Seegar, in a soft, low voice, that last evening after leaving the court-house "Peaches" had sent for him and told him that the red back diary she produced in court yesterday as a diary she had kept before her marriage was not the original manuscript.

Epstein seemed pained as he mentioned this circumstance. He said he asked her if she had the original diary, and she admitted she had, then he told "Peaches" to produce it in court today.

"I consider that my duty as an officer of this court and as an attorney for my client, that the truth and all of the truth should be known," said Epstein gently.

Diary Produced

Mack took hold of that with avidity. "Peaches" was on the stand still under cross-examination at the time, and he asked for the original diary. She pointed to her handbag on her attorney's table, and another red back book, somewhat similar to the one she displayed yesterday, was produced.

"Peaches" said she kept the diary until the day she was married. It seems that she made record of the little episodes of her girlhood such as casual "neekings" with the flaming youth of her acquaintance. I believe they call it "neekings" now, but when your correspondent was a "neeker" of no mean standing back in the dim and misty past, they called it "lally-gagging." Times have changed. The girls didn't keep her mother, Mrs. Catherine Heenan sat right at her side ready to render first aid in case of a collapse.

Even a case hardened old sinner such as your correspondent must feel a little sympathy for "Peaches" regardless of the merits of her case against "Daddy."

He isn't rose geranium anyway you take him. The child-wife seems to be a victim of circumstances in many respects. She is disfigured for life, how, and why has not been made clear, but perhaps, as she says, it wouldn't have happened if she had never met "Daddy," though she admits he didn't burn her.

She is marked for life spiritually, as well as physically, a tough break for a sixteen year old girl, however you look at it. The pity is so far as she is concerned, that "Daddy" had more than two dollars. Otherwise you would never have heard his name, or her name, for that matter.

Mother Much In Evidence

Old friend mother-in-law was with us much of the morning session in the person of Mrs. Heenan. You have seen her, my brothers, full many a time and oft, yes. Of about the shape and heft of Willie Meehan, the old time roly poly of the many art of scrambling cars. Willie was shaped like an apple. She wore a black hat and dark blue dress, drawn a bit tightly and skittishly about her hips. She smiled at her daughter as she sat down in the witness chair.

She followed to the stand one, Mrs. Catherine Mayer, a woman of middle age, with a middle age bob, who wore glasses, and a black satin dress, and who told of quarrels between "Peaches" and "Daddy" while in the first bloom of their honeymoon at Cold Springs. Mrs. Mayer lives with Mrs. Heenan, and corroborated much of "Peaches'" tales with reference to the battling at Cold Springs.

"Daddy" gave mother Heenan a good strong son-in-law glare as she said:

"He always called me mother."

She said "Peaches" was born in Columbus, Ohio, and admitted that she (Mrs. Heenan) was divorced in 1918 from her husband.

"Do I have to tell my age?" she asked, a bit coyly, as Mack made inquiry on that point. "I am forty three."

Epstein produced "Peaches" birth certificate, which she identified, and which Mack examined carefully and then objected to. The objection was not sustained.

Mrs. Heenan, too, told of Cold Springs. She said she had gone there and leased a house at "Daddy's" instructions with money furnished by him, because "Daddy's" attorney, Captain Dale told her they wanted everything legal in case of any action by the Children's society, which was threatening steps against her as unfit guardian of "Peaches."

Tells of Battles
She said she noticed her daughter was unhappy at once. And heard "Peaches" and "Daddy" quarrelling with great vim. She said she heard "Daddy" say to his child wife:

"What are you, anyway? You ran around with a bunch of low down Jews, and the first night I was out with you, you met that fellow Richman."

Just what Richman was not specified, but your correspondent is well aware that most Richmans are happy. However, I believe that in this particular case it was some unknown, and obscure Richman, and not that big song-and-story man of the feverish fifties.

She had a real old heart-to-heart, mother-in-law, talk with "Daddy" with reference to his goings on with her daughter, and she says he told her:

"No judge would believe either of you. They buy me lunches while I freeze out the poor. The newspapers would keep me on the front pages, and she 'Peaches' will be do w'n in the dirt like the other Mrs. Browning."

Mrs. Heenan said she was with "Peaches" and "Daddy" at the battles of Cold Springs, the Fairfield and the Grammatan hotels, but always at "Daddy's" invitation, whereupon "Daddy's" countenance took on a wry expression as if he had bitten into a lemon.

She said "Daddy" gave her daughter the name of "Peaches." Others always called her Frances. Under cross-examination by Mack, she told "about" "Daddy" coming home one night with his face very red, and said he produced a bottle from his pocket and said:

"Mother, I'm drunk."

It was on this occasion, she said, that he threatened to shoot "Peaches" and her, but became very very contrite when she threatened to call the police.

"How big was that bottle?" demanded Mack. "You're a nurse and familiar with ounces, how many ounces would that bottle contain?"

"About two ounces," replied Mrs. Heenan, whereat Mack looked startled. A two ounce bottle is not much of a bottle, when you are talking about liquor.

He continued to press the lady for more information about "Daddy's" condition, and finally she said, tartly:

"Mr. Mack, this is a very serious matter with me. I don't want to play with you."

"You can't play with me," said Mack, quickly, "I'm a married man."

Epstein gravely objected to this badinage, and Judge Seegar remarked:

"Well different attorneys try their cases in different ways, and I'm not going to try to control their methods."

"Did he stagger?" demanded Mack, still on the subject of "Daddy's" condition. "Did he stagger like this?"

Then the counsel gave a very life-like stagger around his table, and Mrs. Heenan brightened.

"Just like that," she said.

For the first time since the trial began, Judge Seegar sought information on his own hook from a witness. Mrs. Heenan had testified that "Peaches" some times went to a swimming pool with young friends and donned a bathing suit, but said she didn't go in the water. The court seemed to think this rather a curious circumstance, and Mrs. Heenan explained that she was afraid of an accident to "Peaches" if she went into the water.

She said she had advised her daughter to return to "Daddy" and had always tried to keep peace between them, but that her daughter failed in health until after she left "Daddy." Then she picked right up.

Reporter Testifies
At the afternoon session, Arthur Leduc, a reporter on the Evening Journal, testified briefly to having received pictures from "Daddy" and to having interviewed "Daddy" and "Peaches" separately and again. He said "Daddy" sent for him after the separation, and wanted to know how many times he had kissed "Peaches" and would he testify to the calculation. Leduc denied ever having kissed the blushing bride.

The attorneys on both sides filed a stipulation to defer the matter of investigating "Daddy's" financial status, which is involved in the squabble, until after the main issue had been settled.

"Peaches" is after a considerable share of "Daddy's" alleged wealth.

Will Enjoy a Happy New Year Blood Test Shows Negative

Dec. 28, 1926. At the beginning of last summer my blood test showed two positives; that is, I was suffering from a disease. After I failed to get relief by treatments of hypodermic shots I decided to give the Fong Wan Herbs a trial. I drank the medicine for only one month. Nevertheless when I had a blood test taken again on Dec. 24, 1926, the test showed negative. My blood is thoroughly cleaned and is O. K. at last. I shall certainly enjoy a Happy New Year. Because of my gratitude for the Fong Wan Herbs' treatment, I am glad to give this testimonial.

Cards with their names and address are approached by a slick salesman, who explains to them that they have "won" a "free" lot or that they are to get a lot at a big reduction on account of the advertising value to the company of their owning a lot in that particular tract. Whereas, the cost of making out a deed, plat, title search, etc., is probably less than $10, the promoter charges an amount greatly in excess of the actual cost. At the rate of 16 lots to the acre, $50 per lot profit represents $800 per acre for farm land cut up by the promoters.

The real meat in the coconut is that the "free lot" is simply a bait used by the salesman to get the gullible prospects to visit the property and purchase a more expensive lot at a higher price. The "free lot" has to be paid for in cash, whereas a smaller amount of cash down will buy a $300 or $400 lot on easy terms. The "bait" is not supposed to be sold.

The salesman is supposed to "switch" the prospect over on to a more profitable sale when he gets him on the tract. Prominent Oil Man Dies In Nice

(By Universal Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 26.—Edwin T. Dumble, prominent for many years in Pacific Coast oil and railroad circles, died yesterday at Nice, France, according to word received by C. M. Redfern, assistant to chief geologist for Southern Pacific company.

At the time of his retirement in June of 1925, Dumble was serving as consulting geologist for Southern Pacific, having received that appointment in 1875 from the hands of Collis P. Huntington, at that time president of the railway.

His railroad service was broken in 1887 when for three years he filled the position of state geologist for the state of Texas. He was closely identified with the development of oil fields in California, Texas and Mexico, and at one time made important investigations of coal fields in Oregon and Mexico.

Mr. Dumble was a fellow of the Geological Society of America, a member of the Texas Academy of Science, the American Institute of Mining Engineers and other scientific societies, and was author of several books and many reports on the geology of Texas and Mexico.

Longest Cable in World Laid From Canada to Fanning Island in Pacific

Above—The Dominia, Largest Cable Ship in the World. Below—Hearst's Content, Newfoundland, where first successful cable was landed in 1866.

Cable ships have completed laying the duplicated sections of the Pacific cable of the new "loaded" type connecting Bamfield, Canada, with Fanning Island, in mid-ocean, and Fanning Island with Suva, capital of the Fiji group of islands, a total length of 5,091 miles. The first cable, which this duplicates, was laid in 1902.

The two cable ships set out at the same time. The Dominia, largest cable ship in the world, laid the northern section, which is the longest single link in the world, while the Faraday laid the southern section. The Dominia carried 8,500 tons of cable.

The southern section is of the permalloy type. Permalloy cable is the speediest in the world, the maximum being 2,500 letters a minute. The copper conductor is sheathed in wrapping of this metal tape, consisting of an alloy of nickel and iron developed in the Bell Telephone Laboratories and manufactured by the Western Electric Company.

The cable is owned by the Pacific Cable Board, representing Great Britain, Canada, Australia and New Zealand.

Permanent Committees Named by Chamber of Commerce as Plans Are Made For New Activities

viding of a direct route from the Southern Pacific ferry to the main state highway leading out of Richmond was a much-discussed and a much-needed improvement. He explained that present plans call for the opening and extension of Garrard boulevard to junction with Tenth street extension at the point where the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe tracks meet, thence either under or over the Southern Pacific tracks to what would be the extension of Thirtieth street and thence in a straight line to the foot of the tank farm hill to the junction of San Pablo avenue or the state highway.

"Tenth street reached by this route would then offer direct contact with downtown Richmond and the new industrial area being developed at the foot of Tenth street on the inner harbor where the Ford assembly plant will be located," he said.

"At the same time the improvement, and extension of Garrard boulevard would offer a direct outlet for incoming traffic to the Richmond-San Francisco auto ferry operated by the Southern Pacific.

"This plan is part of a general plan tying in with the proposed industrial highway between Richmond and Oakland," he continued. "Tenth street offers direct contact with this proposed industrial highway which follows Meeker street, thence to Pullman avenue, thence into and across Richmond Annex, skirting El Cerrito Hill into Albany, thence onto Seventh street, Berkeley and from Berkeley directly into Emeryville and Oakland's western waterfront district.

"The industrial highway is primarily for the purpose of taking a lot of heavy truck traffic off San Pablo at a point north of Richmond proper and bring it into the industrial districts of Richmond, Albany, Emeryville, Berkeley and Oakland with the least possible delay and by the most direct route. I believe, and so does the city planning commission, that the plan outlined is the most feasible.

"Because this new industrial highway passes through considerable land of little taxable value and because it might work a severe hardship on those owning property adjacent, and because it will be a general benefit to all the East Bay communities, an effort is being made to have the boards of supervisors of Alameda and Contra Costa counties create a special highway district which will bear the expense of the proposed industrial highway. The cooperation of the governing boards of the two counties is essential."

Frederberg's report was enthusiastically received.

Salary Increases Asked In County Government Bill

Among the changes proposed in the county government bill are provisions for an increase in the salary of deputies and stenographers and additional expenses for some departments. It became known yesterday when the contents of the bill were divulged.

Following its introduction in the state legislature action will be taken at the resumption of its session.

Following is a resume of the changes proposed:

District attorney's office—An increase in salary for one stenographer from $115 to $125.

Sheriff's office—The pay of one deputy to be increased from $160 to $165.

County clerk's office—Two stenographers to be raised in classification to that of deputies, with an increase of pay from $140 to $150 and $115 to $140, respectively. This change is made so as to permit of stenographers signing legal documents.

Recorder's office—Increase of salary from $115 to $125 for two index clerks and four copyists.

Treasurer's office—Allowance for extra help to be fixed at $1000, with a per diem limit of $5. Under this provision it would be possible for the two offices to employ an extra clerk to classify bond coupons. The new bond issues have made such an addition to the office force necessary.

Assessor's office—Employment of a deputy to ascertain valuation of improvements at a salary of $200 per month. Extra help allowance to be increased from $3000 to $5000 with a per diem limit from $3.50 to $5 per day.

Surveyor—Would create another engineer to be employed at $8.50 per day; another instrument man at $7 per day. Expense allowance of the office to be increased from $12,000 to $18,000.

Auditor's office—Extra help allowance to be increased from $300 to $1500 with an increase in salary for two clerks from $115 to $125.

Tax collector's office—Increase of salary for one stenographer from $100 to $125, and allowance for extra help to be increased from $3000 to $5000; per diem limit raised from $3.50 to $5 per day.

Librarian—Salary would be increased from $2400 to $2700.

Sealer of Weight and Measures—Salary to be increased from $1800 to $2400. Deputy increase from $5 per day to $10 per month.

The offices of superintendent of schools, coroner, and public administrator are subject to no changes under the bill.

An individual bill provides for an increase in salary for two superior judges from $5000 to $7000.

MILK DEALERS HEAR REPORTS ON EXCHANGE

Reports were made on the new bottle exchange system instituted in this city by the Richmond Milk Dealers' association when it met last night in the Pythian Castle under the direction of S. P. Skow.

R. H. Cunningham has been placed in charge of the milk bottle exchange and he reported that in the last month 9,000 bottles have been salvaged and a saving of several thousand dollars has been made.

The dealers are gratified over the results shown by this system. A committee of three, consisting of S. C. Wessley, R. B. Smith and Hall W. Sanders was appointed by S. P. Skow, president of the association to form a credit rating bureau as same as the Richmond Credit rating bureau.

A discussion of this matter will come up at the next business meeting which will be held on February 11.

Two Things to Remember

1 REMEMBER what Barnum said:—"A sucker is born every minute."

2 REMEMBER that the person who spends too much for what he ought to get is swallowing hook, line and sinker.
